Davis Will Select A Chairman By Friday

NOMINEE CONFERS WITH LEADERS TO PICK CHAIRMAN

Dark Horse Is Likely As Polk And Shaver Not Probable

NOTIFICATION TO BE HELD ON FIRST

Calling Party Heads To Frame Campaign For Fall

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 15.—Selection of a dark horse as chairman of the national democratic committee may be the outcome of the conference today between John W. Davis, the democratic nominee for the presidency and other prominent members and party leaders. Mr. Davis at the home of Frank L. Polk indicated that he desired to settle the chairmanship problem if possible before Friday. It also appeared possible that neither Mr. Polk or Clegg Shaver of Fairmont, West Virginia nor any others who have been mentioned would likely be chosen. Another object of the conference will be to obtain information of candidates from various sections of the country, information that Mr. Davis expects to use in his notification speech which he expects to prepare while on a ten days visit at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Gibson in Maine.

The notification ceremonies will take place at Clarksburg, West Virginia about the first of August in the home that Mr. Davis lived as a boy and now occupied by his sister. Among those who conferred with Mr. Davis on yesterday were: Senator Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma, Governor Trapp of the same state, Theodore Dockwiler national democratic committee man from California, Edmund H. Moore of Ohio, Titus Alexander, chairman of the national negro democratic association and Cordell Hull.

It was announced at the Polk residence today that Mr. Davis campaign headquarters would be open tomorrow at Murray Hill hotel in Park avenue. The democratic standard bearer has maintained temporary headquarters at the home of Mr. Polk.

AMERICANS REST BEFORE RESUMING WORLD JOURNEY

(Associated Press)
PARIS, July 15.—Tired and weary from their 18,000 mile battle against the air the United States army around the world fliers today took a resting spell in Paris and planned to hop off to London early in the morning. The pilots of the three planes and their assistants landed at Le Bourget air-drome yesterday afternoon. Sixteen days behind their schedule but with a gain of twelve days to their credit since leaving Tokyo the fliers were ready for a rest. Since leaving Los Angeles on their journey the aviators had been in the air 260 hours. They all admitted they were tired but they were ready to hop off at a minutes notice. However it was thought that a days rest would be very beneficial before starting again on the long journey. From London they will fly by way of the Orkney Islands, Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Quebec. From that city they will make the journey to their homeland.

MEININGER MAKES LAST CALL FOR LOW RENTAL FIGURES

Regarding the present situation in the upbuilding of Albany-Decatur, the following statement has just been issued by W. J. Meininger, secretary-manager of the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce:

It becomes increasingly important to call the attention of our citizenship to the matter of available factory sites and buildings as well as near by subdivisions, colonization, and farm tracts.

Specifically with reference to the location of manufacturing plants here certain negotiations are now in progress which must be brought to a head immediately and any one having factory buildings which they are willing to lease at reasonable figures should immediately communicate with the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce. The securing of one of these plants in particular at this present moment hinges solely upon the proper location at a reasonable rental figure. Loss of this plant will be chargeable solely to the present rental. The matter will be determined August 1st—we have done everything that human beings can do and have convinced the manufacturer from every standpoint the Twin Cities will afford him a most desirable location. It is a question of the rent. This is the third and last call.

Street Payments Are Fairly Good

Both Albany and Decatur are in the midst of a drive to secure the street taxes still unpaid but which are about delinquent. In Decatur, Clerk Collier is now mailing out notices reminding of the fact that all street taxes are now due and payable. Mr. Collier stated that 10 days would be allowed before cost charges would be added. In Albany, Clerk Hartung is closing up his street tax books, with many in a fair way to have to pay costs unless they hurry. Mr. Hartung ran a display advertisement in the Daily Monday and stated today that since the paper appeared he was being swamped with eager tax payers desirous of escaping the penalties for being too late with their street taxes.

British Ship Fears That Insurrection Is Gaining

(Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, July 15.—While the latest official reports received from Rio Janeiro stated that the federal forces at Sao Paulo are holding their own and bossing the situation and the Brazilian insurgents, unofficial advices indicate that the rebels are not only in full command of the city but are threatening the neighboring metropolis of Santos.

A wireless message from the British ship "Andes" which left Santos on yesterday said the situation at the Brazilian city was serious. It stated that the rebels at that time were but eight miles from the city.

Up until late last evening the Brazilian government had not made public any communication regarding the situation. Advices state that the police in Rio de Janeiro are proceeding energetically against all alarmist reports flying about regarding the situation.

TAMMANY LEADER DECLARES SUPPORT FOR DEMOCRACY

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 15.—Tammany Hall is now functioning under its fifth leader since William M. Queed in 1867 who instituted the one man leadership method of control in the organization.

Judge George W. Olvany erected yesterday took over the reins from the steering committee which had been in control since the death of Charles W. Murphy in April. In many ways the new leader possesses the same qualities that characterized his immediate predecessor. While he is not so reticent as Murphy he is known among his political associates as a man who has the courage to say no. His birthday is the same as Murphy's. He was born June 20, 1876, eighteen years after Murphy. The new leader was born on the east side near the boyhood home of governor Smith and is a close friend of the New York leader.

As a member of the law committee Judge Olvany has had a part in every election involving a Tammany candidate for the past five years.

After his election he made it known that he would pattern his leadership upon that of Murphy. In a statement issued today he said that he would support Davis and Bryan in the November elections.

CORN MARKET TAKES JUMP; CUTTEN GETS MILLION AND HALF

Arthur Cutten Backs His Prediction Of Early Spring

OTHER GRAINS MAKE GAINS

Farmers Holding On Account Of Late Seasons

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 15.—One of the biggest killings on the Chicago Board of trade was reported by brokers yesterday as having been made by Arthur C. Cutten, Chicago grain merchant and board of trade operator, who sold 300,000 bushels of July corn to a glucose concern at a price around $1.10. His profits since corn took a jump of 40 cents from the recent low figures were estimated by brokers tonight at between 1,500,000 to $1,800,000.

In addition to his heavy deals in cash corn, Mr. Cutten, who terms himself "a cash grain merchant and dirt farmer," and whose farm near Chicago is one of the show places of DuPage county, is also credited with having made a large sum on the recent wheat advances of from 20 to 25 cents a bushel in the Chicago and Winnipeg markets.

His heavy profits, brokers say, were due to his faith in his prediction made some time ago, that corn would take a jump. He following this judgment persistently in his trading, his friends say, despite the fact that he was compelled to take large losses during May, when it was reported to have been compelled to pay for 4,000,000 bushels of cash corn bought on contracts of May delivery.

Wet Weather Factor
A month ago he predicted corn would reach a dollar a bushel before the end of July and wet weather which has held the crop back made his forecast come true even sooner.

"I felt all along that corn was worth more money," he said tonight in discussing today's deal, "and that the Chicago stock which only a little while ago was the largest in the country, would all be wanted. I have sold my grain into consumptive channels as prices moved up from 84 cents, the demand becoming more active as the price advanced. As I sold my cash corn I took July in exchange and have

DELEGATES ASKING REVENUE BOARD TO FIX MOULTON ROAD

The Morgan County board of revenue has been crowded with business at its meetings now being held at the county court house. Today road building contractors S. K. Jones of Memphis whose company has built many miles of new roads for the county, and J. E. Rodes of Nashville whose company has much work on roads in the county in progress with their secretaries were before the board and received payments for money due them on their contracts.

Mr. Bussey told the board that he would lend the county what money it might need to repair the pike, which is about ten miles long.

Hartselle Has Complete Roads

The entire street paving project of the people of Hartselle involving an expenditure of $125,000, is now completed stated Captain Richard Burleson of Hartselle. Travelers now pass directly through the main business section over a new asphalt road instead of detouring several blocks to the west as has been the case for all the years until the present. Captain Burleson stated that the biggest building project of Hartselle at this time is the large structure of the Alabama Grain and Cotton company, which when finished will stand near the warehouses of that company.

FOREST BLAZE TRAP, SCORES OF PERSONS NEAR WEST COAST

Fifty-Two Thought To Have Perished In The Frisco Section

TOURISTS FORCED TO AID FIGHTERS

Call Goes To The Cities To Send Aid To Northwest

(Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Forest fires raging along the entire Pacific coast were being fought today by forces recruited from federal, state and private timber interests in the effort to stop what is characterized as the most serious fire that has ever existed on the Pacific coast. Blazes in the timber of eastern Washington and northern Idaho were reported to have burned over the forces and cut off the homestead settlers whose fate is eagerly awaited.

The greatest momentary loss has been in the forests of the Pacific northwest on both sides of the international boundary. In Idaho alone buildings have been burned and in Washington and Oregon logging camps and equipment of the timber interests have been destroyed. Blazes in the coast region of Washington and Oregon were reported early last night as being under control with the aid of the rainfall in that section on yesterday. In the national forests of California four major fires were still raging today threatening ranches and live stock and battled by thousands of men. So great has been the call for fire fighters that automobile tourists have been forced into the work in some instances and calls have been sent to the larger cities of the state for men to aid in the battle against the flames.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Fifty two persons are unaccounted for and believed to have perished within the past twentyfour hours in the forest fires that are sweeping this section.

SPOKANE, Washington, July 15.—Forest fire conditions in northern Idaho and eastern Washington took a serious turn last night. More than three score persons were trapped by a sudden spurt of the fire on Pine Creek, near Kellogg, Idaho but reached safety early this morning. No word has been heard from the 35 persons said to be trapped at Wheelers Mill, O'Connell county. A report last night told of the destruction of the mill property and the failure of the members of the community to make their escape.

DAILY PRAYER—As Thou didst make Thyself known despite the flame of persecution, may I not reject the offer of Thyself, through fear of suffering or the dread of the fires of persecution.

Cities are known by the sidewalks they keep. Portions of the Twin Cities leave much to be desired as to their walks and streets, as touch-cleanliness. Cities may put on ever so bold a front as to public buildings and private residences, if their thoroughfares are in bad condition, tourists will get an unfavorable impression. People are not only repelled by the sight of improper walks and streets, but since they have to walk them, the demand is strong that the streets be both and restful.

Broken pavements, muddy walk-ways and sets filled with obstructions should not exist. They are seldom seen in the Twin Cities. But at times, at some places bad street conditions obtain where a little work and a little forethought would remedy matters. Property owners as well as management of cities need to give much thought and attention to sidewalk walks and the premises near the walks. These cities are blessed with new pavings and sidewalks in many sections, but some of the older sidewalks and streets are being overlooked and neglected. Home pride and city pride should be exercised as to bring about perfect conditions on streets and sidewalks.

The Daily desires the news, all the news and any and all efforts put forth by the people generally aid it in getting the news will be greatly appreciated.

Most of all the Daily desires news of an enduring character. News that will be a part of the correct history of the Twin Cities and Morgan County—news that can be read with profit and interest many years hence. It is easy to see that profitable news must be reliable and true to the facts. (And profitable news must be clean news. There is no value in bad unreliable news. There is no value in news that merely recites unpleasant and hurtful happenings. Things that hurt and do not help are worse than useless in a newspaper. Just as advertisers are more anxious and careful than they ever were to have their ads represent the facts, so newspapers everywhere are very anxious that occurrences published shall have happened just as they were said to have happened.

Readers of the Daily can be of great help to the paper, if they will report local happenings, all the local happenings that may appear to have news value. All the news cannot be gathered and published, except as all hands cooperate in the undertaking. All the news there is, must first be seen by some one; and unless those who see the news report it there are many chances that the item may not get into the record of the day. Let its readers continue to help the Daily get the news record of the day, and also help keep that record clean and in accordance with the facts. Thank you.

Monday papers showed that Americans were doing the expected and leading the world in the Olympic games. The same papers also gave accounts of where Americans in the International Advertising convention have been stirring things up no little in the city of London. Two of the most renowned pulpits of England and of the entire world, gave utterances concerning the value and importance of advertising in the religious world on Sunday. One of the learned religious leaders said that there should be no shock in the convention's proposal as to "the possibilities of advertising religion," the speaker adding there could be no harm in advertising religion, provided the religion was in fact, "as advertised."

The other noted religious leader "dwelt on the enormous influence of advertising in modern life, saying "the presence of so many of the delegates of the convention in the church implied an assumption that their business had a direct relation to those sublime verities which the church existed to confirm."

The speakers had spoken on "the ethics and uses of advertising." That the noted church leaders should have chosen to speak of advertising at all goes to show what a tremendous hold the idea of advertising the "sublime verities" to the world at large has gained in the consciousness of thoughtful religious leaders.

But the leaders in question are but following in the lead of other church leaders on both sides of the Atlantic, who time and again by formal resolution and otherwise, have approved church advertising and commended its use to the church congregations all over the land.

In the same story relating to the discussion of church advertising by noted speakers is a reference to the way Houston Texas delegates sought to will the International Advertising convention's consent to hold next year's annual meeting of that body in Houston. The story goes on to say:

"The Houston, Texas, delegation to the convention, which came to London 60 strong to obtain the 1925 meeting for their Lone Star city, began their efforts with a banquet this evening to the Thirty Club of London and the leaders of the convention. They served their guests a real Texas meal. They introduced the British to the water-melon, the fruit from Texas, and also to steak, which they brought across the seas with them for the occasion."

The Houston delegates commended their city's value by advertising what is grown in and around Houston. Church people can show the value of their churches and their work by advertising the results of church effort to the world at large.

It is easy to believe that the talk of candidate John William Davis' connection with Morgan and his associates will fall of its own weight.

Mr. Davis' flat refusal to desert his employers weeks ago, puts him to where he can quickly go on the offensive against his would-be critics.

If there were anything in his professional or private life of an objectionable character, charges that he was only a corporation lawyer would not so easily pass away. It is quite possible that in a month's time nothing will be said about who Mr. Davis' former employers were.

He has quit the law for the time being. He has quit fair. And that is all there is about it.

As for the great strong-hold of Democracy, the Southern states, Mr. Davis is sufficiently Southern to meet all requirements.

He was born in a near Southern state and chose to be educated in Virginia, a Southern state, of the first water. Besides, Mr. Davis was educated in a decidedly Southern University, Washington and Lee.

He taught in that institution and has moved among Southern people much of his time.

As for the West, Mr. Davis seems not to doubt his ability to convince Westerners, that his first words upon receiving knowledge of his nomination to the effect that "progressive measures" will be sponsored by him, will be taken at their face value. Mr. Davis proposes to make a visit to the West at an early date to present his claims. The reception given the Democratic nominee in New York, is gratifying in that he is not without honor in the city where he has been practicing law for many years. He should be accepted to the soldiers and sailors because of his conspicuous services abroad for his country. One notable war conference attended by Mr. Davis was the one during the war for arranging for the exchange of prisoners of war. He represented America, in London during the critical period when the League of Nations was under discussion. Mr. Davis has sat with honor in Congress. He has served as the nation's attorney. He has performed many distinguished services for his country. But best of all he has remained a true and dignified American always.

He is sure to conduct a clean, high minded campaign for the Presidency. He was nominated without an effort on his part. He fought clear of all sinister influences and has never been known to be the instrumentality of his own selfish ambition or to be used as a weapon with which mutual enemies fought out their hatreds. Mr. Davis has taken too high ground throughout his life, to take any other than high ground for the future. If he is elected, the destiny of his country is in safe hands.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW GINNING ESTABLISHMENT

Ground was broken Thursday for the erection of the modern gin plant of the Alabama Cotton and Grain Co. The plant will be erected just west of their present large warehouse, and when completed will be the very last word in gin apparatus. The building will be near a hundred feet long, twenty-five feet wide, one story and will be built of brick with cement foundations. The building will house 480 saw gin stands, and will have a capacity of one hundred bales of cotton in twenty four hours.

The machinery will all be ball bearing and electric power will be used to turn it. It will be noiseless, and as near dustless as it is possible to have a plant of this kind. Instead of a dust conveyor running out the top of the building, the dust will be conveyed down to the ground and can be taken care of without becoming disagreeable. It is the intention of the promoters to have the gin ready for business on or before September 15.

Health Report Shows Valuable Work For June

Following the completion of his visit to health leaders in Morgan County, C. A. Abele, director of inspection of the state board of health has gone to Huntsville and while there he expects to inspect health conditions in Madison County.

While here Mr. Abele arranged for a health meeting here Friday July 25, at 3:30 o'clock at the rooms of the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce. Full details for the meeting are to be arranged by city officials of both cities by representatives of the local luncheon clubs, the Parent-Teacher Association, Women's Clubs, the chamber of commerce and the dairymen of the Twin Cities.

The principal speaker at the meeting will be L. C. Frank, of the United States public health service.

Mr. Frank is at the present time connected with the Alabama board of health in its milk control program.

Mr. Abele Gives Interview.

In speaking of the need of more complete legislation for the improvement of the milk supply Mr. Abele said:

The state board of health has formulated a standard milk grading ordinance, which has been passed and is now being enforced in seven Alabama cities. The grading ordinance provides for the determination of milk grades, based upon conditions at the dairy or in the milk plant and the bacteria content of the milk, the grades determined by inspections and laboratory analysis must appear upon the milk bottle caps, so that the purchaser may know the quality of the milk bought.

sold that out, too, on a steadily rising market.

"It required patience for me to hold on to my corn, but the present market justified the correctness of my position. I began accumulating corn for delivery this month, because I believed it would be hard to get.

Cites Backward Spring.

"Farmers have not sold their grain owing to the backward spring, receipts have been small all over the country and consumers have had to come to Chicago to get their supplies. I have sold about all my cash corn but the situation is still light. Receipts are not likely to increase for some time."

James Patton was also reported to have made considerable amount of money through the disposal recently of 2,000,000 bushels of oats purchased in May when other dealers were predicting a big loss. Cash corn here sold for $1.13 today within a cent of last year's high point, while July corn was quoted at $1.10.

Road Heads Are Pleased With The Work Of Grader

The demonstration made here before county officials and members of the Tennessee Valley Road Improvement association of a new road building machine have proven eminently successful and entirely to the liking of many citizens.

Twice-Told Testimony

Albany people are doing all they can for fellow sufferers.

Albany testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Pills to others in Albany who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Last any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Albany people who again endorse Doan's Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's an Albany case:

Lee McNeese, prop. Wagon and Carriage shop, 405 Fourth avenue, West, gave the following statement February 28, 1918: "I stand a lot and now and then take a heavy lift. This affects my kidneys and brings on backache. My kidneys were weak and disordered at this time, but as soon as I feel these symptoms coming on, I get a box of Doan's Pills and after using them, the trouble is corrected."

On February 7, 1922, Mr. McNeese added: "I use Doan's still and always have the same good results."

PYTHIANS TO PUT ON MEMBERSHIP DRIVE VERY SOON

Hermione Lodge, No. 16, Knights of Pythias held its regular convention at the Bank street Castel hall on Monday evening with an exceptionally large audience.

This being the first convention since the installation of officers the chairs were filled by the newly elected officers, as follows: A. L. Shelton, Chancellor Commander, J. D. Garren, vice-Chancellor, W. A. Pryor, Prelate, W. J. Garnett, Master of the work, J. C. Caldwell, keeper of records and seal and master of finance, W. G. Gardner, master of exchequer, S. D. Armstrong, master at arms, H. E. Carpenter, inner guard, H. C. Abshire, outer guard. With each pledging his earnest support and cooperation, and all working together in perfect harmony, the membership feels reasonably assured of very extensive and far-reaching results from this force.

A considerable amount of routine business was disposed of, including the appointment of the standing committees for the present term, and was followed by several talks for the good of the order, the principal speakers being Dr. James D. Hunter, Dr. C. C. Davidson and Past Grand Chancellor T. M. Dix.

Under the provisions recently made by the supreme lodge for the creating of a new membership committee in subordinate lodge work, the Chancellor Commander appointed the following Knights, who have the interests of Pythianism at heart, and are expedient to every official command, B. D. Meadors, W. W. Benson, W. T. Giles, T. M. Dix, H. C. Abshire, J. D. Wallace.

The newly installed Chancellor Commander, A. L. Shelton, is very highly pleased over the wise selections of the lodge in electing competent and efficient officers to assist him in the work, and begins his term with every advantage as the lodge is in fine shape committees well organized, and notwithstanding the hot weather, the attendance continues to increase, so with the brightening prospects before them, the officers and members of Hermione Lodge No. 16 are looking forward to one of the most successful years in the history of this lodge.

Madison county officials who saw the grader as operated, were greatly pleased with it, stated J. W. Clopton, president of the Tennessee Valley Road Improvement Association, who added that Madison officials figured that their county would need at least four of the new tractor machines.

Mr. Clopton stated that some members of the board of revenue of Morgan County had seen the grader at work, and expressed the hope that Morgan officials would purchase not less than two of the grading machines for use in this county. One man operates the grader.

YOUR HEALTH

Find the Troubling Food If You'd Avoid Dermatitis

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,

United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"DERMATITIS" is a term applied to any inflammation of the skin about which so many persons have recently written me that I am offering an article on the subject.

Among the most common forms of dermatitis are the papular, pustular, erythematous and vesicular types.

The erythematous is one of the most common. There is an acute redness of the skin which may be confined to a small area or it may spread over a large portion of the body. The chief symptoms of this type are swelling and itches.

The papular is the most common and simplest form of dermatitis. Vesicular dermatitis is found where the inflammation has become aggravated until blisters form, filled with a collection of serum.

Pustular dermatitis usually follows or accompanies one of the other types of this disease.

Pus infection occurs through some pus-producing organism. It is difficult as a rule to draw a line between the various types of simple dermatitis. One so closely follows or accompanies the other that one or more types may be present at the same time.

Burning, itching, pain, sometimes nausea and vertigo are among the most common symptoms of dermatitis. There may be more serious symptoms. Chills, fever, intense pain and temporary disturbance of the kidney function are often met.

The first thing to do in any form of dermatitis is to take care of the diet. It is best to restrict this to fluids for a day or two, or at least during the acute attack.

Particular attention must be paid to the foodstuffs which have been eaten just preceding the attack. Very often it will be found that something like tomatoes, fish, oysters, pork, certain berries or even coffee may have precipitated the attack. Only by a process of elimination can you determine what part of your diet must be eliminated.

Your family doctor probably will advise soda, for frequent bathing with hypochlorite of soda, two double handfuls in half a tubful of water, will give relief from the itching.

Bicarbonate of soda in ten-grain doses every two or three hours will also assist.

It is important to keep the bowels open and the skin functioning freely, as your doctor will advise.

When you have determined which foods cause your trouble, avoid them and you need have little fear of further attacks.

WHAT A COMFORT IT IS NOT TO BE IN FASHION DOUBT!
KATY—The only reason I go to Paris to look for clothes is because I'm always so seasick on the way back that I have plenty of time to digest the myriad fashions—behold! Note this Roman striped purse to match my cane. See the rims of my hexagon spectacles colored to match my gown! Study the colorful crest atop my hat, replacing the too-popular monogram! I don't think, I know! I'm securely in the first line of fashion!

Diary of a Fashion Model

She Discusses an Unusual Dance Frock.

PAM and I have invented a game we play every morning. We both have little notebooks in which we keep sketches of the most attractive clothes that we see. Each day when we come in the first thing we do is to sketch the frocks we've seen the day before or the evening before. "I'm sure I'll win this time," Pam informed me this morning. "Have you seen something unusually good?" I asked. "You bet I have," Pam informed me. "What?" I inquired eagerly. "A lovely dance frock for a young girl," Pam explained. "Then you doubtless will win," I answered. "I haven't been anywhere much in the past day or two, and I haven't been to any of the smart dancing

WEDNESDAY, JULY 16.

The planetary rulership for this day is mainly adverse in nature. This may prove a very anxious time for those in the employment of others who should do all in their power not to give offense to those in authority over them. The heart should be given proper consideration lest it prove a disturbing factor. Speculation should be avoided and any resort to legal redress may result in disappointment. Avoid bitterness and sarcasm. Those whose birthday it is may encounter anxiety during the year. They should safeguard the health, avoid law and speculation and if in the employment of others should be especially careful not to give offense to their superiors. CAIN IS CHOSEN TO REPRESENT FARM BUREAU, IN FALL

The Morgan County farm bureau directors have elected James F. Cain president of the bureau, as their representative to the annual meeting of the Alabama bureau at Montgomery, which is to be held early in August according to E. W. Bussey a member of the board of directors.

Mr. Bussey has just returned from a meeting at Hartselle of the directors of the farm bureau of this county.

"The fight on the boll weevil has not opened a moment too early," said Mr. Bussey, "for reports at our meeting showed that he is making his evil presence felt. To make assurance doubly sure, when I came home, I examined my cotton and sure enough I found the pest had arrived. But so far, very few weevils have appeared in my cotton. And members of the farm bureau at Hartselle stated that only a few weevils had been found, except on one or two farms."

Egg Sales Planned.

Aside from discussion of the coming fight on the weevil, stated Mr. Bussey much of the time of the directors of the bureau was taken up formulating plans for the part Morgan County poultry raisers are to take in the state wide movement to market eggs after the most approved methods. Mr. Bussey stated that just as the Cotton Association of the state farm bureau, under the presidency of Allen Northington, has been a success he expected to see the Poultry Association a big success.

Mr. Bussey stated that Morgan County would furnish the required number of laying hens, of the over 100,000 required to put the association in business.

He said that not until after the Montgomery meeting of the state farm bureau did he expect the egg marketing association to perfect an organization.

Mr. Bussey stated that in the immediate neighborhood of Albany and Decatur, a ready market was found for all eggs offered for sale but that in most sections of Morgan County the egg association was needed and that all Morgan County people should do all within their power to make the new movement a success.

Where Bats Thrive.

Bats are absent from the colder parts of the world and are most numerous in the eastern tropics. They are characteristically tropical. In rather cold climates, such as that of Canada, some species have acquired a habit of migration, going south to some extent in the autumn, as the northern winters are too long to be survived in a state of uninterrupted hibernation.

The Bantering Way Harry Underwood Began the Evening.

"A Harry Underwood was on his feet before I had opened the living-room door even a few inches, and with his most flamboyant manner was advancing toward me. His demeanor would have been extravagant for an old-time courtier bending before a queen, and I could not repress the smile which his antics almost always bring unwittingly to my lips.

His eyes saw the smile, and he stopped—in mid-air, as it were—and smote himself theatrically upon the breast. "But you—you—laugh!" he said dolorously. "All the homage, the sincere admiration—the—the—"

"If I were Dicky I could supply you a word," I said demurely. "I suppose you mean 'bunk,'" he said bitterly. "That is what a man gets for baring his heart to any woman. But would you have me burst with repressed feelings which the sight of you brings to my long-silent lips? I cannot help it if you do laugh. I must tell you that you—"

It was the old game, the eternal challenge, and imperceptibly responsibility slipped from me, and my spirits rose to meet it. Lillian, herself, had urged this evening, and because of many things I had no feeling of accountability to Dicky for it.

With a little shrug, I cast away all the prim little inhibitions that ordinarily would have possessed me, and resolved for this one evening to forget that I was anything else but a young woman passably well-dressed, bound for a dinner with a handsome and most fascinating man.

With a provocative upward glance of my eyes, I murmured softly: "Won't the telling wait? I think Lillian is anxious for us to be off so that—"

An Embarrassing Moment. She can apply the thumb-screws to Maudie!" he queried in apparent answer to the last part of my speech, but his eyes danced a reply to the first part.

"Something of the sort," I returned indifferently, and crossed the room to the chair upon which Lillian thoughtfully had laid out my evening cape and scarf. I moved swiftly, but without appearing to exert any effort, Mr. Underwood was before me, lifting the cape and put it about me, inventing his movements with an air of deferential tenderness that made the attention like a rite.
